Guidelines for English reviews (version 2.0)

01.12.2023

1. Elements of a review

A review in Zwingliana should consist of the following elements:

1. Bibliographical details of the title under review
2. Text of the review
3. Information about the reviewer
4. (Information about the use of special characters)

1.1 Bibliographical details

The bibliographical details should be given according to the following model:

author given name surname. title: subtitle, place: publisher, year (series title volume no.), page range. – ISBN.

Max Muster. Zwinglis Theologie: Die Entwicklung 1519–1525, Tübingen: Mohr Siebeck, 2010 (Beiträge zur historischen Theologie 34), X & 412 p. – ISBN 978–3–03823–503–3.

Zwinglis Theologie: Beiträge zu ihrer Entwicklung, ed. Max Muster and Peter Beispiel, Tübingen: Mohr Siebeck, 2010 (Beiträge zur historischen Theologie 34), X & 412 p. – ISBN 978–3–03823–503–3.

1.2 Text of the review

- Authors may use either American or British spelling according to preference as long as it is consistent within the review.
- Length: max. 7'000 characters, spaces included.
- No footnotes.
- If possible, no abbreviations (century instead of c. etc.).
- For dashes as well as from-to dashes, the en-dash "–" should be used.
- Please use typographic quotation marks: "...".
- Single quotation marks ought only to be used to mark passages within text that is already within quotation marks: "... '...' ...".
- Ellipses in quotes are indicated by three periods in square brackets: [...]
- As a rule, the use of special characters should be avoided. For instance, superscript vowels (e.g. u with superscribed o) should be written out: uo; ue. E-caudatae should be given as "ae". If special characters are nevertheless required, they are to be coded consistently and specified at the end of the article

For example: u%o for u with superscribed o a%e for a with superscribed e e%e for e-caudata
 ...

1.3 Information about the reviewer
